Trump Misses Chance to Come Clean about Grubby Little Paws
Says 736 words to Washington Post about hands, but 0 about official measurements

PORTLAND, OR - The noble volunteers of Americans Against Insecure Billionaires with Tiny Hands PAC expressed deep disappointment, outrage, and sorrow about Republican presidential candidate Donald Trump yet again forgoing a clear opportunity to release his official hand measurements to the American people.

In an interview with the Washington Post editorial board, Donald Trump spoke at length about his hands – including myriad falsehoods about their size, strength, and attractiveness – but maintained his steadfast refusal to disclose their measurements.

“Tiny-handed fraud Donald Trump spent 736 words on his hands, but zero about their official measurements,” said volunteer treasurer Henry Kraemer, “This is yet another sign that Trump fears how Americans will react to the truth about his miniature mouse mitts.”

In recent weeks, Americans Against Insecure Billionaires with Tiny Hands has led the growth of the historically critical #TrumpHandTruth movement, amassing thousands upon thousands of loyal foot soldiers on social media. Trump’s new lies reveal the strength of this movement.

“If Donald Trump thinks this clumsy slight-of-baby-hand trick will distract our movement, he’s sorely mistaken,” said Kraemer, “He’s poking the truth in the eye with his stubby little nubbins, and everybody knows it. It’s sad, really.”

Americans Against Insecure Billionaires with Tiny Hands PAC is an enormous movement of volunteers committing to keeping the presidency out of Donald Trump’s grubby little paws. They have been covered by Time Magazine, USA Today, the Hill, and many others.
